On seeing the owner of the cow approaching he turned her loose and ran into the woods. He was afterwards captured by a posse and not only confessed to stealing the cow but also to burning the Creed store the same night.
Death of Mrs. Broom.
 Mrs. Ida Broom, wife of Mr. I. W. Broom of this place and a daughter of Mr. H. A. Scarborough of Lee county, died here Thursday, Sept. 28, 1905, after an illness of about one month. She was about 32 years of age. Her remains were interred at Douglas church yesterday afternoon.
A Coming Marriage.
 Invitations have been received by friends here to the marriage of Mr. P. M. Feltham to Miss Curran Maude Hartley, which happy event will take place at the home of the bride's mother at Edgefield, S. C. Oct. 10th, 1905, at 8:30 p. m. Mr. Feltham resided here for a year or more while the big cotton mill was being constructed and was one of the architects who supervised its construction. He made a great many warm friends here.
A Home Wedding.
 On Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 27th, at 3 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lazebny, Mr. J. Walter Culp, formerly of this place but now of Gastonia, N. C., was married to Miss Lily Miller, daughter of our late esteemed townsman, Maj. B. F. Miller. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. R. E. Turnipseed, pastor of the Methodist church, in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and groom and a few special friends. After receiving congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Culp left on the L. & C. train for an extended bridal tour North.
 Miss Miller is an attractive and charming young lady and is popular with a large circle of friends. The groom is a Lancaster boy of sterling character and integrity who recently cast his lot in the progressive town of Gastonia. Their many friends wish for them a long, happy and prosperous life.
 —Plenty of Fertilizers for small grain on hand. Heath-Jones Co.

Fire At Heath Springs.
 Mr. J. E. Creed's store and stock of goods at Heath Springs were destroyed by fire about 3 a. m., Wednesday morning. The fire was of incendiary origin, and the supposition is that the store was robbed and then burned to cover the crime. Some goods, identified as goods from the Creed store, were found concealed in a thicket near the town. A negro who stole a cow from Bill Rutledge the same night of the fire is suspected as the incendiary. Mr. Creed's loss is fully $5,000, with only $1,500 insurance. Only a few months ago Mr. Creed suffered heavy losses by a fire which destroyed almost the entire business portion of the town. We are told that this is the seventh time he has suffered loss by fire.
LATER: THE INCENDIARY ARRESTED AND MAKES CONFESSION.
 Since the above was put in type the negro, Wm. Drakeford, Jr., who stole a cow from Bill Rutledge the night of the fire has been captured and on his person was found a pistol, some smoking tobacco, matches, etc., identified as being from the Creed store. The negro, seeing he was trapped, confessed to both crimes and implicated a young white man and another negro in the burning but later exonerated both and they were released. Both, however, could establish an alibi. Drakeford is now in jail. He says that he wanted some candy and prized open the back door of the store to get it but failing to find any he ate some sardines, helped himself to tobacco, matches, etc., and was going out when he noticed a pile of papers near the door and applied a match to them. There is strong suspicion that he is the party who set fire to Mr. Creed's store several months ago, causing the disastrous fire which came near destroying the entire business portion of the town.

Death of Mr. E. K. Hines.
 Mr. E. K. Hines, the venerable father of our esteemed townsman Mr. H. Hines, died at the home of his son on Cemetery street Thursday afternoon, Sept. 28, 1905, at the advanced age of 76 years. Mr. Hines has only lived here about two years but during that short time he has won the highest esteem of the community. He was a gentleman of the old type, high-toned, honorable, dignified, courteous in manner, withal a fine character of imposing attraction. He was a native of Duplin county, N. C., and was married in 1861 to Miss C. L. McMurray. Three sons were born to them, all of whom, with his widow survive him. His sons are: Messrs. J. L. Hines of Fayetteville to be conveyed to Raleigh to the Governor. He joined the Presbyterian church in young manhood and the beautiful Christian character of his old age evidenced his having lived an exemplary Christian life. His remains were interred in Westside cemetery yesterday afternoon after funeral services conducted at the home by Revs. Chalmers Fraser and R. E. Turnipseed.
 His sons, Messrs. J. L., and Ed Hines, Mrs. Ed Hines and Mrs. Hollingsworth of Charlotte, a sister of Mrs. E. K. Hines, arrived here yesterday in time for the obsequies.
